

Forced

When everywhere, doors
are closing, remember

the branch a lightning storm gave you, how

you sat in a room, beside someone, barely

touching, stick of forsythia in jam jar of water.

Inside that storm, one hundred suns opened.